

Did You Know?

Plagiarism is a serious offence. Do not “copy and paste” the contents of the article directly into your report, without citing the source.

Singapore reacts to globalisation
By Sarah Tan
The help of the title of held a 24 Se
Get right s team.
The from a conter global

The wave of globalisation has opened up the world for young people. Close to 80% of all Singapore youths aged between 12 and 25 spend more than 3 hours every day surfing for news and making new friends from other countries on the Internet.

youths work and live abroad and they have quickly adapted themselves to the foreign lifestyles. The competition was held to increase youth's awareness of the global village we all live in and encourage them to be entrepreneurs.

"I was pleasantly surprised that the Singapore youths are so well-informed about happenings around the world," said Candice Cai, chairperson of Youth House.

ssoo@inews.com

The wave of globalisation has opened up the world for young people. Close to 80% of all Singapore youths aged between 12 and 25 spend more than 3 hours every day surfing for news and making new friends from other countries on the Internet.

Plagiarised

